Walter was afraid of her." he said, and we all knew it. She had frequently threatened his life. His father knew ethis and it used to worry him. When we came in from Newark and found the woman at the office I told Walter had he ought to shake her. He said he had it all fixed up; that he had given her money to go to Detroit, but that he waited to be easy on her, so that he would spend this last night with her before calling it all off. "He met the girl about six months ago at a hotel in Far Rockaway. She fell desperately in love with him and insisted that he marry her. He did not want to marry her and told her so, but six e kept after him.

"She often said that if he did not marry her he would never marry any one, and that she wouldn't, either. She bothered him all the time. She was always calling him up on the phone at his office, and almost every day or two she would be in to see him. He

COCK'S PLASTER

Better than quinine pills, mustard baths and o'her things that ought to do some good because they're so nasty to use. "ALLCOCK'S" was the best cure of your grandfather's time—it's the best cure TO-DAY. Just put one on the chest or part that seems most affected and see how quickly your cold will be broken up and forced out of the system. Pirates have been driven from the seas, but unscrupulous imitations still flood the market. After you have decided that ALLGOCK'S POROUS PLASTER is what you want don't let yourself get cheated out of a cure.
